MOTION TO RECONSIDER ORDER GRANTING ENTRY OF PROTECTIVE ORDER FOR THE PRODUCTION OF DOCUMENTS AND EXCHANGE OF CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION

Defendants respectfully request the Court reconsider its decision, at docket number 147, to grant Plaintiffs' Motion for entry of a Protective Order for the Production of Documents and Exchange of Confidential Information (Dkt # 128) and its implied denial of Defendants' response objecting and containing an alternative proposed motion on the same subject (Dkt. # 135). Plaintiffs' protective order included unnecessary and unduly burdensome provisions at Paragraphs 6(h) and 7 that are already slowing the pace of document production and will interfere with the Government's ability to efficiently litigate this case. Additionally, Plaintiffs' justification for paragraph 7 is moot given this Court's orders protecting witnesses and nonparties. These onerous and unnecessary provisions are wholly incompatible with expedited Rule 65(a)(2) proceedings and the limited time remaining before trial. So, Defendants ask the Court to vacate its order at Docket Number 147, and enter Defendants' protective order, found at Exhibit A of Defendants' response (Dkt # 135 attached as Exhibit 1 to this motion), which is materially identical to Plaintiffs', except it omits Paragraphs 6(h) and 7.

The negative consequences to the Government's ability to litigate this expedited Rule 65(a)(2) case are immediate. For example, the Government inadvertently left the administrative arrest warrant in Badar Khan Suri's case out of its sealed administrative record. It has prepared a new filing with a new certification to provide this document under seal. But now, given the approval of Plaintiffs' version of the protective order, under Paragraph 6(h) the Government must contact Badar Khan Suri to permit him to review the document for personally identifiable information before it can be filed even though it will be filed under seal and the Government will make any necessary PII redactions. See Exhibit 1 at 2-3. This further delays the Government's ability to provide documents to the Court fewer than two weeks before trial is set to begin. The process will need to be duplicated for every document containing PII filed with the Court whether on the public docket, under seal, or in camera. See id. It will be further complicated by the need to redact privileged or classified portions of documents intended to be filed only in camera, before the individual with PII views the document. See id. And the reviewing individuals might raise objections to the redacted portions of those documents, which would further delay proceedings. This provision is wholly unnecessary and incompatible with expedited Rule 65(a)(2) proceedings. The Government has taken the position that it does not object to permitting inspection by individuals to whom the PII pertains for publicly filed documents, but the same should not apply to sealed or in-camera filings. See Exhibit 1 at 2.

Paragraph 7 requires the parties to maintain indefinitely a log of individuals, other than counsel of record their staff, who are granted access to Designated Information. Not only is this provision unworkable as it would complicate the Defendants' lawyers' ability to consult with them, but it was also premised on Plaintiffs' misrepresentation of a protective order in another case: Doe v. Noem, No. 1:25-cv-10495 (D. Mass.), ECF No. 57 (Exhibit B to attached Exhibit 1). See Plaintiffs' Mot., Dkt. 128 at 4. Plaintiffs state "in another case currently pending in this District the same defendants agreed to a stipulated protective order that contains a similar logging requirement” and added that the Government’s “refusal to do so here is unjustified”. See Plaintiffs’ Mot. at 4. Contrary to Plaintiffs’ mischaracterization, the protective order there (also involving the Government and immigration issues) permits sharing confidential information with employees or agents of the parties without a recording requirement. See Exh 1, Exh. B, ¶ 3(c). The only persons who need to execute an agreement and for whom counsel must record and log access to confidential information are “outside independent persons,” id. ¶ 5 (presumably referencing ¶ 2(c) in error and intending to reference ¶ 3(c)), which is something the Government does not oppose and indeed had initially proposed to include in Paragraph 7. So, in Doe v. Noem, the recordkeeping requirement was not onerous because there was a limited number of people required to be logged, and it did not interfere with counsels’ ability to confer with their agency clients. Such is not the case with the protective order the Court approved today at Plaintiffs’ request.

Additionally, Plaintiffs’ justification for Paragraph 7 is moot. Plaintiffs claim Paragraph 7 is necessary “because of the risk that the government will use information about Plaintiffs’ noncitizen witnesses (and any other noncitizens whose information is disclosed in discovery) for enforcement purposes rather than solely for defending this action.” Plaintiffs’ Mot., Dkt. # 128 at 3. But the Government has stated that it will not retaliate against any witnesses who testify in this case, see Response to Motion for Protective Order Barring Retaliation and Restricting Defendants’ Use of Information Disclosed in the Course of Litigation, Dkt. # 119 at 1. The Court also granted Plaintiffs’ prior motion for a protective order stating that “[n]o noncitizen providing evidence shall, by reason thereof, suffer any adjustment in their immigration status.” Dkt. # 124. Additionally, the Court has repeated the admonition in its recent order reminding the parties that it “has already entered a protective order to guard those giving testimony from retribution.” Dkt. # 139. Finally, the Court granted the Plaintiffs’ unopposed motion for an attorneys’ eyes-only protective order providing additional protection to non-testifying individuals identified by Plaintiffs' witnesses. See Dkt. # 148 and 145. The actual function Plaintiffs' paragraph 7 serves is to further hamper the Government's ability to litigate this case reasonably within the remaining number of days before trial.

For these reasons, the Government requests that the Court vacate its decision at Docket 147 and enter the General Protective Order without Plaintiffs' proposed Paragraphs 6(h) and 7 (Exh. 1, Exh. A).

RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' MOTION FOR ENTRY OF A PROTECTIVE ORDER FOR THE PRODUCTION OF DOCUMENTS AND EXCHANGE OF CONFIDENTIAL
INFORMATION

Plaintiffs have requested that the Court enter a Protective Order for the Production of Documents and Exchange of Confidential Information ("General Protective Order"), containing two provisions which are unnecessary and would impose undue burdens on the Government's ability to efficiently litigate this case and safeguard sensitive information. Dkt. 128. The Government therefore objects to inclusion of these provisions, discussed in further detail below, in the General Protective Order to be entered by the Court.

The Government agrees with the need to protect all confidential information that is exchanged in discovery or filed in this case. Government counsel have worked with Plaintiffs' counsel in good faith to reach terms agreeable to all parties, and the parties have come to a near consensus. The outstanding provisions, or partial provisions, on which the parties have failed to reach agreement are:

(1) Plaintiffs' proposal in paragraph 3 to restrict the use of information obtained outside of this litigation if such information was "derived from, obtained based on, or obtained in reliance on information disclosed in this case;”

(2) Plaintiffs’ proposal in paragraph 6(h) to require that any document containing personally identifiable information (“PII”) that a party intends to file with the Court first be made available for inspection by the individual to whom that PII belongs, including non-parties to this litigation; and

(3) Plaintiffs’ proposal in paragraph 7 that the parties log the name and title of each person, other than counsel of record and their support staff, who is given access to any Designated Information produced by the other party, and the date that access is granted.

Regarding proposed Paragraph 3 of the General Protective Order, the Government no longer objects to Plaintiffs’ addition of the following clause: “so long as such information was not derived from, obtained based on, or obtained in reliance on information disclosed in this case.” And that clause is contained in Defendants’ proposed order found at Exhibit A.

Regarding Paragraph 6(h), Plaintiffs assert a need for “individuals with privacy interest in the PII” to be able to review any documents containing their PII prior to filing to ensure their information is sufficiently redacted. Dkt. 128 at 5. The problem is the proposal allows individuals to view documents filed under seal or in camera. Under this proposal, Plaintiffs aver that these individuals would be able to review their PII only, and nothing else in the document. Id. To the extent that the Government submits any filings containing PII on the Court’s public docket, the Government has no objection to allowing inspection by the individual to whom the PII pertains and ensuring that all necessary redactions for PII are applied. But, the same need does not apply to sealed or in camera filings, which are highly sensitive by their nature and necessarily protected from public disclosure. Indeed, in the case of in camera, ex parte filings, the documents are even protected from access by counsel for the non-filing party.

Plaintiffs have shown no need for why non-parties to this case should be granted access to even portions of documents filed under seal or in camera, which potentially contain sensitive national security, law enforcement or deliberative information, and which are likely privileged. To the extent that Plaintiffs are concerned about the need for obtaining privacy waivers from specific non-party individuals in order to receive discovery relating to those individuals, the Privacy Act of 1974 permits disclosure of protected information “pursuant to the order of a court of competent jurisdiction.” 5 U.S.C. 552a(b)(11). It is the understanding of undersigned counsel that disclosure in this litigation of any immigration records pertaining to specific individuals pursuant to the Court’s June 2 ruling ordering discovery would fall under that exception. Plaintiffs’ concerns about obtaining privacy waivers from individual non-parties therefore does not justify the inclusion of Paragraph 6(h) in the General Protective Order. Finally, persons should not be permitted to use a refusal to sign a privacy waiver to obtain access to portions of non-public, potentially privileged documents and documents filed in camera.

As for Paragraph 7, Plaintiffs’ proposal that the parties maintain a log of individuals, other than counsel of record and their staff, who are granted access to any Designated Information is unworkable. Plaintiffs’ lawsuit encompasses two agencies with myriad employees who are assigned, at varying times, to handle different aspects of this case – all of whom will be subject to the General Protective Order ultimately entered by the Court. It would be unduly burdensome to require Government counsel, less than one month before trial, to track the distribution through each agency of every document designated as Confidential by Plaintiffs. It would also hinder Government counsel’s ability to effectively and efficiently communicate with their clients. The Government has maintained that it will not retaliate against any witnesses who testify in this case, see Dkt. # 119 at 1 (Response to Motion for Protective Order Barring Retaliation and Restricting Defendants’ Use of Information Disclosed in the Course of Litigation), and the Court has also entered an Order that “No noncitizen providing evidence shall, by reason thereof, suffer any adjustment in their immigration status.” Dkt. # 124. Any concerns on Plaintiffs’ part of retaliation should therefore be alleviated. Finally, Plaintiffs misrepresent the protective order in Doe v. Noem, No. 1:25-cv-10495 (D. Mass.), ECF No. 57. The protective order there permits confidential information to be shared with employees or agents of the parties without a recording requirement. (Exhibit B, ¶ 3(c)). The only persons who need to execute an agreement and for whom counsel must record and log access to confidential information are “outside independent persons,” id. ¶ 5 (Exhibit B) (presumably referencing ¶ 2(c) in error and intending to reference ¶ 3(c)), which is something the Government does not oppose and indeed had initially proposed to include in Paragraph 7. So, in that case the recordkeeping requirement was not onerous because there was a limited number of persons required to be logged, and it did not interfere with counsels’ ability to confer with their agency clients. Such is not the case with Plaintiffs’ proposal here.

For all of these reasons, the Government requests that the Court enter the General Protective Order without Plaintiffs’ proposed Paragraphs 6(h) and 7. See Exhibit A.

Case No. 1:25-cv-10685 (WGY)

[PROPOSED] PROTECTIVE ORDER FOR THE PRODUCTION OF DOCUMENTS AND EXCHANGE OF CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION

The Court, having found that good cause exists for issuance of an appropriately tailored confidentiality order governing the pre-trial phase of the above-captioned action American Association of University Professors (“AAUP”), et al. v. Marco Rubio, et al., Case No. 25-cv-10685-WGY (“Litigation” or “Action”), which may involve discovery of documents, information and tangible things, that Plaintiffs or Defendants (collectively, the “Parties”) may reasonably believe in good faith to be protected from disclosure to the public or to one or more of the Parties under Rule 26(c) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, sets forth the following Order to facilitate the discovery process by protecting against the unauthorized disclosure of confidential information and the potential injury caused by such disclosure.

The Parties, by and among their respective counsel, having stipulated and agreed to the terms set forth herein, and good cause having been shown, it is hereby ORDERED that any person subject to this Order—including without limitation the Parties to this action, their attorneys, representatives, agents, experts and consultants, acting as such, all non-parties (“Third Parties” or “Third Party” singular), providing discovery in this action, and all other interested persons with actual or constructive notice of this Order—shall adhere to the following terms, upon pain of contempt:

ORDER

Pursuant to Rule 26(c) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, all discovery and other materials exchanged by the Parties or Third Parties, or filed with the Court in this Action shall be provided subject to the conditions set forth in this Order.

1. Scope of Order.¹ The following terms, conditions, procedures, and restrictions govern with respect to documents, electronic data, and any other information of any kind produced or voluntarily exchanged in this Action by any Party or Third Party; all discovery contemplated by Rules 26 through 36 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, including responses to all written discovery requests and demands, and deposition testimony and exhibits, however recorded, and any other written, recorded, or graphic matters (collectively “Discovery Material”). The protections conferred by this Order cover not only those portions of any documents containing Confidential Information (as defined below), but also (a) any information copied or extracted from those portions of any documents containing Confidential Information; (b) all copies, excerpts, summaries, or compilations of Confidential Information; and (c) any testimony, conversations, or presentations by the parties or their counsel that might reveal Confidential Information. However, the protections conferred by this Order do not cover information that is properly in the public domain or becomes part of the public domain through trial or otherwise, except as limited by other agreement of the parties or order of the Court in this action.

¹ The headings herein are provided only for convenience and are not intended to define or limit the scope of the express terms of this Stipulation.

2. Designation of Discovery Material as Confidential Material. - n. Any other personally identifiable information protected under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 5.2 and Local Civil Rule 83.6.11;
- o. Information, documents or tangible things, which may include, among other things, Department of State and Department of Homeland Security documents regarding national security vetting which may include sensitive information related to national security and law enforcement investigations and practices; and information or records pertaining to the issuance, refusal, or revocation of visas protected under 8 U.S.C. § 1202(f).
- p. All other documents, information or tangible things not identified above that any Party to this action contends in good faith contain confidential information, as well as copies or summaries of such information or materials that otherwise reveal the contents of such information, that the Party would not ordinarily disclose and which should be protected from disclosure under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 26(c).

The Producing Party must give notice of material that is Confidential in the manner set forth in paragraph 5 below. Further, a Party may designate material obtained from a Third Party pursuant to this Order (the “Designating Party”), if it believes in good faith that it qualifies as Confidential under this Order.

3. Access to and Use of Confidential Information. The duty of the Party or Parties receiving the Confidential Material) and of all other persons bound by this Order to maintain the confidentiality of the Protected Material so designated shall commence upon receipt of the Protected Material. No person subject to this Protective Order may disclose, in public or private, any Protected Material so-designated by a Party as Confidential, except as provided for in this Order or as further provided by the Court. Use of any information or documents subject to this

Protective Order, including all information derived therefrom, shall be restricted to use in this litigation and shall not be used by anyone subject to the terms of this agreement, for any purpose outside of this litigation or in any other proceeding between the parties or involving either of the parties. Nothing in this Protective Order shall limit or in any way restrict the use of information obtained outside of this litigation, so long as such information was not derived from, obtained based on, or obtained in reliance on information disclosed in this case.

4. Method of Designation: Protected Material shall be so designated, whenever possible, either by stamping or otherwise clearly marking as “CONFIDENTIAL PURSUANT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER.” In the case of material contained in or on media other than paper, the Producing Party shall affix a label to the material or use its best efforts to identify the material as Confidential Material. For interrogatory answers and responses to requests for admissions, designation of Confidential Information shall be made by placing within each interrogatory answer or response to requests for admission asserted to contain Confidential Information, “CONFIDENTIAL PURSUANT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER.” With respect to testimonial evidence, whether testimonial or in the form of an Exhibit used in a testimonial proceeding, such evidence may be designated as Confidential either by a statement on the record of the deposition or in writing within ten (10) business days of receipt of the transcript. Transcripts of testimonial evidence and exhibits attached thereto shall be treated as Confidential Information in their entirety until the expiration of the above-referenced 30-day period for designation, except that, during the 10-day period, the individual offering testimonial evidence (and his or her counsel, if any) may review the transcript of such proceeding and exhibits attached thereto, provided the individual signs the “Acknowledgement and Agreement to be Bound” (Exhibit A).

5. Treatment of Notes on Designated Material: To the extent notes are made that memorialize, in whole or in part, the Protected Material, or to the extent copies are made for any use authorized under this Order, such notes, copies, or reproductions shall become Protected Information subject to the Protective Order and must be handled in accordance with the terms of the Protective Order.

6. Access to Confidential Material. Only the following persons shall have access to or retain material designated as Confidential pursuant to this Order:

- a. the Court and its staff;
- b. Defendants, Defendants' employees to whom disclosure is reasonably necessary for this litigation, Defendants' counsel in this action and any support staff and other employees of such counsel assisting in this action with an appropriate need to know.
- c. Plaintiffs, Plaintiffs' employees to whom disclosure is reasonably necessary for this litigation, Plaintiffs' counsel of record in this action and any support staff and other employees of such counsel assisting in this action with an appropriate need to know.
- d. counsel retained specifically for this Action, and their associated attorneys, paralegals and other professional personnel (including support staff) who are directly assisting such counsel in the preparation of this Action and are under the supervision or control of such counsel, and who have been advised by such counsel of their obligations hereunder;
- e. experts and consultants retained by the Parties or their counsel to furnish technical or expert services in connection with this Action or to give testimony with respect to the subject matter of this Action at the trial of this Action or other proceeding herein (and the experts' or consultants' staff whose duties and responsibilities require access to

- such materials), and who have been advised by counsel of their obligations hereunder and have first executed the “Acknowledgement and Agreement to be Bound (Exhibit A);
- f. a witness who counsel for a Party in good faith believes may be called to testify at a deposition or trial in this Action, provided such person has first executed the “Acknowledgement and Agreement to be Bound” (Exhibit A);
 - g. stenographers, videographers, and translators engaged to transcribe, record and translate depositions conducted in this Action who have been advised by counsel of their obligations hereunder and have first executed the “Acknowledgment and Agreement to be Bound” (Exhibit A);
 - h. individuals (and their counsel) whose personally identifying information is contained within materials that the Parties have filed or intend to file on the public docket in this action, limited to confidential information regarding their own personally identifying information, and excluding access to other confidential information unrelated to their personally identifying information since they are not parties to this suit, unless agreed upon by both parties to access such additional information; and,
 - i. any other person agreed to in writing by the Parties.

~~7. Recordkeeping for Individuals Who Have Been Granted Access to Designated Information: Counsel for each party shall record in a log the name and title of each person, other than counsel of record and their support staff, expert, consultant, and prospective witness who is given access to any Designated Information produced by the other party pursuant to Paragraph 5(e) and Paragraph 5(f) above, as well as the date that access is granted, and the reason for granting access. Counsel shall exchange preserve these logs indefinitely at the final pretrial conference and~~

~~monthly thereafter until the determination of any appeal in this matter or until the time for appeal has run.~~

8.7. Procedure for Challenging Designations. The Parties shall meet and confer regarding any dispute over designations, after which the objecting party may seek de-designation by the Court. The designated material shall continue to be treated in accordance with the original designation until the issue is resolved by an order of this Court or by agreement of the Parties. The Producing Party may authorize, in writing, disclosure of Protected Material produced by the Producing Party beyond that is otherwise permitted by this Order without further Order of this Court.

9.8. Filing Protected Materials in this Action. Before filing Confidential Information with the Court, or discussing or referencing such material in court filings, the filing party shall confer with the designating party (where practical, at least seven days prior to the intended filing date) to determine whether the designating party will remove the confidential designation, whether the document can be redacted, or whether a motion to seal or stipulation and proposed order is warranted. Local Civil Rule 83.6.11(b) sets forth the procedures that must be followed and the standards that will be applied when a party seeks permission from the Court to file material under seal.

10.9. Inadvertent Disclosure of Protected Materials. If, upon promptly discovering that Confidential Information was inadvertently produced prior to the trial of this Action, a Producing Party realizes that some portion of Discovery Material that was previously produced without limitation should be designated as Confidential the Producing Party may so designate that portion promptly by notifying all parties in writing. Such designated portion of the Discovery Material will thereafter be treated as Confidential under the terms of this Order. In addition, the Producing Party shall provide each Party with replacement versions of such Discovery Material that bears the Confidential designation within five (5) business days of providing such notice.

11.10. Limitations on the Use of Protected Materials. A receiving party may use Confidential Information that is disclosed or produced by another party or by a non-party in connection with this case only for pursuing, defending, or attempting to settle this litigation. It shall not be disseminated outside the confines of this case, nor shall it be included in any pleading, record, or document that is not filed under seal with the Court or redacted in accordance with applicable law. Confidential Information may be disclosed only to the categories of persons and under the conditions described in this Order. Confidential Information must be stored and maintained by a receiving party at a location and in a secure manner that ensures that access is limited to the persons authorized under this Order. The Parties shall access the Protected Material for the sole purpose of preparing for trial and any appellate proceedings in this Action and for no other purpose. However, nothing in this Order shall be construed as limiting a producing party's right to use and share information that the producing party has designated as confidential for any lawful purpose.

11.11. Subpoenas in Other Actions. In the event a Receiving Party having possession, custody, or control of any Protected Material produced in this Action and designated as confidential under this protective order receives a subpoena or other process or order to produce such information, such subpoenaed person or entity shall promptly notify by e-mail the attorneys of record of the Producing Party and shall furnish those attorneys with a copy of said subpoena or other process or order. Unless the Producing Party consents, the subpoenaed person or entity shall not produce the requested Confidential Material, and will instead take the following steps: The subpoenaed person or entity shall promptly notify in writing the party who caused the subpoena or order to issue in the other litigation that some or all of the material covered by the subpoena or order is subject to this Order and provide a copy of this Order with that notification. The subpoenaed person or entity shall cooperate with respect to all reasonable procedures sought to be pursued by the designating party or parties whose Confidential Information may be affected, including objecting and seeking a protective order in the litigation in which the subpoena or order was issued.

13.12. Return or Destruction of Confidential Material. Upon the final disposition of this Action, any Protected Material shall not be used, in any way, absent a court order. All materials designated subject to this Order maintained in either Party's files shall remain subject to this Order unless and until such order is modified by court order. Within thirty days of the conclusion of all appeals of this Action, each Party shall return Protected Material to the Producing Party, certify that all such material has been destroyed, or certify that the materials will be securely preserved in such a way as to ensure the confidentiality of those materials until they may be destroyed. In the event that there is a substitution of counsel prior to when such documents must be returned, new counsel must join this Protective Order before any Confidential Material may be transferred to the new counsel, who will be bound by the terms of this Order.

14.13. Modification. This Order may be changed by further order of the Court, and is without prejudice to the rights of a Party to move, on notice to the other Party, for relief from, or modification of, any of its provisions, or to seek or agree to different or additional protection for any particular material or information.

15.14. Retention of Jurisdiction. The provisions of this order shall not terminate at the conclusion of this Action and the Court will retain jurisdiction to enforce this Order following termination of the Action.

SO ORDERED

Dated:

Boston, Massachusetts

THE HONORABLE WILLIAM J. YOUNG
UNITED STATES DISTRICT JUDGE

Exhibit B

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE DISTRICT OF MASSACHUSETTS

SVITLANA DOE, et al.,

Plaintiffs,

v.

KRISTI NOEM, in her official capacity as Secretary of Homeland Security, et al.,

Defendants.

C.A. No: 1:25-cv-10495-IT

STIPULATED PROTECTIVE ORDER CONCERNING CONFIDENTIAL DOE PII

Upon consideration of the Parties' Joint Motion for a Stipulated Protective Order, it is hereby ORDERED that:

1. Any personally identifying information about any of the Doe Plaintiffs ("Doe PII") is designated as "Confidential" to protect the Doe Plaintiffs' privacy interests.
2. "Confidential Doe PII" consists of the following information about the Doe Plaintiffs as provided by Plaintiffs in the course of this litigation, in connection with any identification of the Doe Plaintiff as a plaintiff in this litigation: Alien registration numbers, full names, dates of birth, passport numbers, social security numbers, addresses, account numbers, application receipt numbers, or the same information concerning any of the Doe Plaintiffs' relatives.
3. Access to any Confidential Doe PII shall be limited to:
 - a. Counsel for the Parties, including in-house counsel and employees and agents of such counsel who are required to assist in the conduct of the litigation;

- b. Employees or agents of the Parties who have a reasonable need of access to the information solely in connection with the prosecution and/or defense of this Action;
- c. Outside independent persons (i.e., persons not currently or formerly employed by, consulting with, or otherwise associated with any party) who are retained to furnish technical or expert services, and/or to give testimony in this Action;
- d. The Court and court employees, court reporters and stenographic reporters, jurors and all persons necessary to the conduct of judicial hearings or the trial of the Litigation; and
- e. Any other person whom counsel collectively agree in writing or whom the Court directs may review the Confidential Doe PII.

3. Any Plaintiff may voluntarily disclose to others without restriction any Confidential Doe PII, although the information may lose its confidential status if it is made public. Any information that Plaintiffs file on the public docket loses any confidential status, unless such disclosure is inadvertent and corrected.

4. Each person designated under paragraph 2(b) or 2(c) shall not further disseminate Confidential Doe PII. Each person appropriately designated pursuant to paragraph 2(c) to receive Confidential Doe PII shall execute an agreement to be bound by this Order in the form attached as Exhibit 1.

5. Counsel for each Party shall record in a log the name and title of each person who is given access to any Confidential Doe PII pursuant to paragraph 2(c), as well as the date that access is granted and the reason for granting access. Counsel shall exchange these logs on a monthly basis for the duration of the Litigation.

6. Any party desiring or intending to file with the Court any Confidential Doe PII in any motion, brief, letter, transcript, or other paper containing or describing any Confidential information, shall do so under seal. The parties shall file in the public docket redacted of any proposed sealed filings. The parties shall also promptly submit unredacted courtesy copies of any proposed sealed filings to the Clerk's Office, clearly marked NOT FOR DOCKETING – COURTESY COPY – SEALED FILING.

7. Confidential Doe PII exchanged in the course of the Litigation shall be used by the parties and persons to whom the information is produced solely for the pursuit or defense of the Litigation. Confidential Doe PII may not be used for any immigration enforcement purpose, including in any collateral immigration proceeding.

8. Nothing herein shall be deemed to waive any applicable privilege or work product protection, or to affect the ability of a party to seek relief for an inadvertent disclosure of material protected by privilege or work product protection.

9. All provisions of this order restricting the communication or use of Confidential Doe PII shall continue to be binding after the conclusion of the Litigation, unless otherwise agreed or ordered. Any party to this Protective Order may apply to this Court for modification of this order.

10. Within thirty (30) days of the conclusion of this Litigation, including but not limited to the latest of settlement, arbitration, judgment, and all rights of appeal being exhausted, any materials consisting of or referencing Confidential Doe PII shall be returned to the producing party or certified as destroyed, except that the Parties' counsel shall be permitted to retain their working files on the condition that those files will remain protected.

Entered as an order of the Court this 26th day of March, 2025.
